Meeting with Dave

This week we had a meeting with Dave Culyba, who gave us a lot of advice and useful insights based on his past experience with the ideation and development of Quasi.

His input was very helpful to understand several things about our project with Herb and we hope to keep getting his advice on our project.

Team Photo

We got our team photo! We are using a different concept and we are trying to convey the idea of our project and our goals with a photo that is both fun and insightful. Simon was our professional photographer for this.

Quarters

In preparation for the 1/4 walkthrough we did a wrap up of everything in we have been working so far and we started preparing our presentation. We think we will have a very nice showcase of our work during this week.

Others

We are still working with the Lab to find a way to have the simulator fully working. Meanwhile we will try to find ways to have more access to Herb and test our simulations on it.
