Workshop with Jennifer.

This week we had a meeting with Jennifer King who gave us a very insightful and great workshop on Herb functionalities.

After this workshop we saw a better picture of the whole project and we were finally able to understand many of the things that were blocking our development..

Website

This week Juan started working on the Website and his almost finished with it. It still needs some content and review with the group but it will be finished this week

Quarters

We had our 1/4 walkthrough last Monday. We think it was a great experience because we received a lot of feedback and several people offered to help with advice.. It was also helpful to see where are we standing in terms of progress and what's the general opinion about the project.

Meeting with Garth

Some team members had a meeting with Garth. They discussed the progress of the project and Garth provided new insights based on the individual work he has been doing with Herb.
