Discovering Nature Through Play

November 25, 2012

Week in Review

This week was shorter than normal, due to the Thanksgiving holiday. With Softs Coming up, our focus was almost completely on polish; our signs have been ordered, and should arrive in the next couple of days. Our voice actor has been in, been recorded, and had his audio inserted. The promo videos and website are being edited for Soft Opening Online on Tuesday. The programmers are currently working on eliminating any remaining bugs, and on getting things set up on the SEEC project's Electric Owl for the intro and outro videos.

Playtest

With Thanksgiving and Softs, we did not have a playtest this week.

The Coming Week

We have Softs (essentially a beta release) on Monday, and Soft Opening Online (Softs for the website and archives). After that, we will have a lot of feedback to work on, which will likely revolve around further polishing in preparation for Finals.
