

Final prototype version is out!

Prototype Version 5 is ready. We have tested and debugged many parts of the game to make the game more stable. Bugs are often included in a game by its nature, but we have eliminated those that harm the gameplay.

Invited to Showcase Game!

We found a great opportunity to showcase our prototype to the public. We were invited to show our prototype on Game Dojo & Game Foundry demo day on Monday at San Francisco. We will take our game and let other game developers and investors play it.

Next Week

A key event next week is the final presentation. We will be showing our game again to industry professionals, colleagues, and advisers. The presentation will be about the whole semester, what we did, how we achieved it, and how we assess our accomplishments.

Our team is excited that the product is in a great shape to show. Please check in our project website for more information and updates.
